The COUNTRY JOURNAL: OR, THE CRAFTSMAN.

N° 313

By CALEB D'ANVERS, of GRAY'S-INN, Esq;

SATURDAY, JULY 1, 1732.

THE miniſterial Writers, and eſpecially Mr. Walſingham, have commonly entertain'd us, at the End of a Seſſion, with a Review of the Proceedings of Parliament, and a panegyrical Comment on the Conduct of their Patron.

I was therefore in full Expectation that ſo buſy a Seſſion as the laſt muſt have furniſhed theſe Gentlemen with Matter for ſome at leaſt of this Kind; and I muſt confeſs my ſelf a little ſurprized to find the whole Merits of my honourable Gentleman reduced to the ſingle Point of having converted one Tax into another, of more than equal Value.

It muſt be acknowledged, indeed, that no Pains, or Induſtry have been ſpared to explain this Alteration to the Advantage of the Projector, and to perſuade the Nation that ſuch a Variation of Taxes is really an Eaſe to the Nation, though it is demonſtrable that the Publick will be obliged to pay above double the Sum, which the Government will receive, and in a Manner not very agreeable to the Genius, or Conſtitution of this Kingdom.

We are likewiſe given to underſtand by the Author of this exquiſite Piece, that the Publick may ſoon expect a farther Eaſe of the ſame Nature, by the Eſtabliſhment of ſome other new Exciſes; and to give his Pamphlet a little Spirit, He hath ſprinkled it up and down, according to Cuſtom, with ſeveral ingenious Calumnies and Falſhoods. But Theſe are already expoſed in another Pamphlet lately publiſhed, intitled the Caſe of the Revival of the Salt Duty fully ſtated and examined; which I believe will effectually defeat the Deſign of the Letter, to which it is an Anſwer. I ſhall therefore proceed to ſome other Points, which equally deſerve the Notice of this worthy Writer.

The third Rejection of the PENSION BILL is a Subject upon which I apprehend He might have deſcanted with a great deal of Fluency and Rhetorick, for the Honour of his Patron; but, perhaps, He might be willing to aſcribe the Glory of that Affair to the laudable Zeal of ſome other Patriots and refer the farther Conſideration of it to the Pen of that excellent Prelate, who diſtinguiſh'd Himſelf, laſt Year, in ſo remarkable a Manner againſt that malevolent and moſt dangerous Bill, which could have no other Tendency, as his Lordſhip pleaſed to obſerve, than to render the Houſe of Commons independent of the Crown.

There was another Bill, for making more effectual the Laws already in Being, for the better qualifying Members of Parliament, which was apprehended to be of the moſt malignant Tendency; for as the former carried an Imputation that ſome of the Members were corrupt, ſo this latter was thought to ſuggeſt that They were not duely qualified; and therefore They both met with the ſame Fate. Here therefore the Letter-writer had another Opportunity of extolling the Wiſdom and Penetration of his honourable Patron, who firſt endeavoured to defeat the Intent of this Bill by a Clauſe for quartering MONEY'D MEN to ſit in the Houſe of Commons; which meeting with the juſt Indignation of the whole Houſe, the Gentleman thought fit to withdraw the Queſtion, and the Bill itſelf was afterwards thrown out in a very unuſual Manner.

There was, indeed, another qualifying Bill, which paſs'd into a Law, and will I hope anſwer all the good Purpoſes, deſign'd by it; I mean an Act for the farther Qualification of Juſtices of the Peace; for as it is very juſtly obſerv'd, in the Preamble to this Act, that the Qualifying Perſons of mean Eſtates to be Juſtices of the Peace, may be highly prejudicial to the publick Welfare; it is too well known that the Practices of ſome TRADING JUSTICES, in a certain County, have brought the Commiſſion itſelf into Contempt, and branded it almoſt with a Proverb.

The Continuance of the ſame ſtanding Army, in the full Enjoyment of a general Peace, which had been kept up, during our late Miſunderſtandings and Perplexity of Affairs, is another Topick, which ought not to have been paſs'd over in Silence by this Writer; eſpecially, ſince the political Memoirs of the Year 1717 would have furniſhed Him with ample Materials for a juſt Panegyrick on the ſtrict Uniformity and Conſiſtency between his Patron's Conduct at that Time, and at preſent, concerning a leſs Number of ſtanding Forces. But this is a Subject, which I have promis'd my Readers to examine at large, in ſome future Papers.

He might have likewiſe diſplay'd his Eloquence on the Caſe of the late Earl of Derwentwater's Eſtate, and the Proceedings of the Parliament upon it; particularly that ever-memorable REPRIMAND, which diſtinguiſh'd ONE of the guilty Perſons from the others, and the ſubſequent Attempt to defeat the Bill of Reſumption, after the Fraud was fully detected and condemn'd by a full Houſe. I ſay, theſe two Particulars ought certainly to have been included in the Panegyrick of that honourable Gentleman, to whom the Merit of them is univerſally aſcribed.

If He had thought proper to have enter'd into a Recapitulation of all the extraordinary Affairs, which came under the Conſideration of Parliament this Year, He could not have forgot another material Article, which highly redounds to the Honour of his Patron; I mean, our Generoſity in paying a large Sum of Engliſh Money, to make up the Deficiency of a Subſidy, which France had ſtipulated by Treaty to pay to the King of Denmark; but as ſome Diſputes happened between thoſe two Courts, concerning the Difference between Daniſh and Hamburgh Money, we thought fit, it ſeems, to prevent all the bad Conſequences of ſuch a Miſunderſtanding by paying the Difference our ſelves. It appeared that Part of this Sum had been deducted out of the Money, granted by Parliament for the Charge of maintaining twelve thouſand Heſſian Troops; which gave ſome Gentlemen an Opportunity of deſiring to be inform'd whether any more and what Deductions had been made out of that Money; but as ſuch an Enquiry might have been attended with unſeaſonable Remarks and Animoſities, the Motion was very prudently rejected.

Mr. Walſingham hath already given his Patron the whole Merit of the Proceedings againſt the Managers of the charitable Corporation, as if that honourable Gentleman had been the only, or the chief Perſon at leaſt, who originally encouraged the Enquiry, and conducted it to that Concluſion, which hath met with ſuch a general Applauſe. I do not think my ſelf intitled to the ſame Privilege with his Writer, of telling Tales out of Parliament, and putting my own Conſtruction upon the Behaviour of the Members; or elſe I could ſet this Affair in a very different Light, and not much to the Advantage of that honourable Perſon. Thus much however I think my ſelf at Liberty to obſerve; that his Patron did not ſeem to make the moſt conſiderable Figure in that Affair; and if He did not endeavour to ſtifle the Enquiry, or to ſcreen the Guilty, the Gentlemen of the Committee were not obliged to Him for any great Lights, or Aſſiſtance in it. I think even Mr. Walſingham Himſelf cannot charge me with any Partiality in this State of the Caſe. He knows very well that I could go a great deal farther, if I thought fit to indulge my ſelf in his Manner of writing; but as I have no Occaſion for it, ſo I ſhall always deſpiſe and abhor it; for I think there cannot be a ſtronger Mark of a bad Cauſe and a proſtituted Conſcience than to applaud any Gentlemen without Doors for what They viſibly oppoſ'd, or endeavoured to obſtruct within Doors; and yet This hath frequently been Mr. Walſingham's Practice. We had a flagrant Inſtance of it, about three Years ago, in the Caſe of the glorious Bill, for preventing Bribery and Corruption in the Election of Members to ſerve in Parliament; which the upright Mr. Manley (as Walſingham call'd Himſelf, at that Time) was pleas'd to ridicule in one Paper, as a GOLDEN DREAM, and in his very next had the conſummate Modeſty to call it a ſovereign Remedy againſt that moſt devouring Peſtilence, CORRUPTION; at the ſame Time giving the whole Honour of that Law to his Patron, who had vigorouſly oppoſ'd it in every Inſtance. I cannot, indeed, charge Him with equal Inconſiſtency in the preſent Caſe; becauſe the honourable Gentleman did not think fit openly to oppoſe the Proceedings of the Committee: but as the moſt, that can be juſtly ſaid in his Favour, on this Occaſion, is, that He did not obſtruct the Enquiry, it is highly ridiculous to ſee ſuch a political Forbearance made the Subject of a long, tedious and fulſome Panegyrick.

It muſt be confeſs'd that the honourable Gentleman had the Sagacity to make ſome farther Diſcoveries in this Affair than any of the Committee; for He proved it undeniably to the Houſe, as his Advocate hath ſince explain'd it to the World, that John Thomſon, the Warehouſe-keeper, in Confederacy with Signior Belloni and other Popiſh Accomplices, had not only defrauded the Proprietors of the charitable Corporation, but likewiſe carried on, under that Cover, a moſt deteſtable Plot againſt his Majeſty's Government and the Proteſtant Succeſſion; nay, that this infamous Conſpirator had entered into the Service of the Corporation with no other View, or Deſign, than to plunder them for the Benefit of the Pretender. This Part of the Diſcovery, I ſay, was intirely owing to the great Penetration of the honourable Gentleman, who traced this dark Scene of Iniquity through all its Mazes, and laid it open to the Houſe with ſuch admirable Acuteneſs and Perſpicuity, that it was unanimouſly reſolved to inflict an exemplary Puniſhment on the Letter, which was deſign'd as the Inſtrument, and happily proved the Means of diſcovering the whole Plot. It was not only voted an inſolent and audacious Libel, but was burnt with great Solemnity at Noon Day, in the moſt publick Place of this City, by the ignominious Hands of the common Hangman. So may all Plots and the Authors of them periſh, for the Honour and Safety of this Kingdom!

Before I conclude my Remarks on the laſt Seſſion of Parliament, I muſt ſupply another Defect of the miniſterial Writers, by taking Notice of that glorious Spirit, which diſcovered itſelf, in both Houſes, againſt the Management of ſome other Companies. As This hath long been complain'd of, and will in all Probability come under Examination next Winter, it is to be hoped that no Arts will be uſed to divert the Enquiry, or protect the Offenders, if any ſuch ſhould be found, from condign Puniſhment; that the ſame ſtrict Juſtice and Impartiality will be obſerved in this Caſe, as in the other; that no Regard will be paid to favourite Directors, Members of Parliament, or even PRIVY COUNSELLORS; and that the honourable Gentleman will be pleas'd to make the ſame Declaration, when the Enquiry comes on, that WHOMSOEVER the Charge ſhall affect, WHOMSOEVER the Imputation of Guilt ſhall juſtly fall upon, there it ſhall reſt; that impartial Juſtice ſhall have its free Courſe; and that if HE ſhould be found to interpoſe for any guilty Man whatever, HE may be accounted WORSE THAN THE MOST CRIMINAL.

I ſhall only add that as We have found, in the Caſe of the charitable Corporation, that the Pretender's Agents have been working Themſelves into our publick Companies, in order to carry on their traiterous Deſigns with the Plunder of the unhappy Proprietors; it ought to make us a little inquiſitive into the Conduct of ſome other Companies, whoſe Property is vaſtly ſuperiour; for if Thompſon and his Confederates could have any Hopes of ſerving the Jacobite Cauſe with the little Pickings of five, or ſix hundred thouſand Pounds, what might not other Perſons do, or attempt (ſhould They have the ſame wicked Diſpoſitions) with a Capital of FIFTEEN MILLIONS?

Lately Publiſhed,

The CASE of the Revival of the SALT DUTY fully ſtated and examined; with ſome Remarks on the preſent State of Affairs. In Anſwer to a late Pamphlet, intitled A Letter to a Freeholder on the late Reduction of the Land Tax to one Shilling in the Pound.

In a Letter from a Member of the Houſe of Commons to a Gentleman in the Country.

Printed by H. HAINES at Mr. FRANCKLIN's in Ruſſel-ſtreet, Covent-Garden. [Price One Shilling.]

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

We have not, for ſome Time paſt, given the Publick any other Account of foreign Affairs than what We have extracted from the common Papers of the Week. I think, We need not make any Apology for This to our Readers. They know very well how dangerous it is to meddle with Affairs of this Nature, and that Mr. Franklin is already caſt into Priſon on that Account. But without making any ſuch Apology, We muſt ingenuouſly own that We ſhould have been very much puzzled to give them any Account of the preſent Deſigns of the Princes of Europe; and, as far as I can obſerve, all the World is as much at a Loſs as our ſelves. It is certainly beyond the Reach of human Wiſdom to make any rational Conjecture on theſe Affairs; for which Reaſon I was willing to conſult the Stars upon this Occaſion; but not having the Honour of any perſonal Acquaintance with them my ſelf, I turn'd to the celebrated Doctor Partridge's Almanack for the preſent Year, and found the following Obſervations on the Month of June; viz.

"The Conſultations of this Month are very many "and of great Concernment; but carried on with "great Secrecy. Perſons of the higheſt Degrees and "Quality in Europe moſt diligent and ſerious in theſe "Debates.—This is like to be a Month of great Action.

His political Obſervations on the preſent Month of July are as follows; viz.

"Saturn is now ſtationary in England's Aſcendant.
"I wiſh ſome OLD STATESMAN be not forc'd to re-"move his Abode for the Convenience of his Health.
"An Appearance of Wranglings, or unhappy Differen-"ces are ſtarted, ſeemingly to the Diſturbance of the "IMPERIAL CONFINES.

After This, the Doctor begins to rave and talk in a very odd Style; which I leave to the Writers on the other Side.

LONDON, July 1.

Sir George Walton is to go as Rear-Admiral of the Squadron now fitting out for foreign Service.

Tueſday Sir Chaloner Ogle, Knt. embark'd at Rotherhith for the Weſt Indies.

On Saturday her Majeſty walk'd from Kenſington to Chelſea, and having view'd the Royal Hoſpital, ſhe return'd to Kenſington to Dinner.

The Body of the Lady Oglethorpe, Relict of Sir Theophilus Oglethorpe, was on Saturday last privately buried in St. James's Church. She died in the 70th Year of her Age, was very conversant with State Affairs in the End of King Charles II. and King James's Reign; and was acquainted with the first Springs and Motives of the principal Transactions of those and the succeeding Times. At the Revolution Sir Theophilus, who was then Major General Colonel of a Regiment and Gentleman of the Horse, resigning his Employments, She, though bred in all the Gaiety of a Court, was not only contented, but even pleased with the putting down their Equipage, and living in the most frugal and retired Manner. She was severe to herself, human to others, and contemned all kind Delicacy and Shew. She was a Woman of excellent Memory and Address, piercing Wit and solid Judgment, and indefatigable in serving her Friends. She had Courage and Learning superiour to her Sex; the latter of which she strove to conceal; and was far from being vain of the former, but used it as a Support in the various Accidents of Life. To her last Hour she kept her Chearfulness, though three Months bed-rid, and dead on one Side with the Palsy. The very Day before her Death tho' she knew she could not outlive the Morrow, she in a pleasant and easy way rallied the Physician, spent the Evening as usually in Prayer, and died in a calm Christian and Heroick Manner.

On Monday Night last, about nine o'Clock, Lieutenant Smith, with his Press-Gang, belonging to the Edinburgh Man of War, went on Board some Norway Ships lying in Hanover-Hole, being Danes, Swedes, &c. in order to press some of the Men, several of whom were English; but they no sooner got on Board, but all the Ships Crews in the Teer gathered together in a Body, and got their Handspikes, Iron Crows, Hatchets (with which they cut the Wood in the Country) and other Weapons, and as fast as the Press Gang got up the Sides of the Ship they knock'd them into the Thames; but notwithstanding this Resistance, the Press Gang still persisted, and got again into the Ship, but being overpowered, their Adversaries got the Lieutenant, and was going to cut his Head off with one of the Hatchets, and would certainly have done it, had not a stout Fellow knock'd the Person down as he was going to strike the Blow, and at the same Time took the Lieutenant in his Arms and flung him over-board, by which Means he saved his Life. After the Press-Gang was got into their Boat, some with broken Arms, others with their Ribs broke (who were afterwards carried to Deptford Yard to the Surgeon to be cured) the Ships Crews flung into the Boat at them several Handspikes, Hatchets, and other desperate Weapons, all which were brought into the publick Hall of the Admiralty, and a Complaint was likewise made to their Lordships on Tuesday, but what the Consequence will be must be referred to another Opportunity.

Monday a Lieutenant of one of his Majesty's Men of War going to press a Sailor with his Gang, out of an Alehouse in Hungerford Market, the Watermen and Butchers rose and beat them terribly, and were so outrageous as to drag the Commanding Officer in the Kennel, and ref cu'd the Man.

Wednesday sen'night at the Races on Hounslow Heath for the 30l. Purse, Mr. Major's Grey Gelding, White Stockings, got the first Heat; Mr. Griffin's Grey Mare, Country Kate, the second Heat; and Mr. Jackson's Grey Horse, Merry Batchelor, the third Heat; and a great Dispute arose, whether Lord Portmore's Horse, who had won never a Heat, should start with them for the fourth Heat; but at last he was suffer'd to start, and got the fourth and fifth Heats: But this being reckon'd contrary to general Custom for a Horse to start for a fourth Heat which has won neither of the former Heats, and when the Plate is to be run for the best of three Heats, his Lordship yesterday sent for Mr. Jackson, and generously gave him the 30l. his Horse (setting aside his Lordship's) winning the fourth Heat. There were five Horses started; four of them run five Heats, and all hard run.

On Monday one Element, alias Country Bob, was committed to Newgate by Clifford William Phillips, Esq; for breaking and entering the House of Mrs. Anne Conyers, and stealing Goods and wearing Apparel to a considerable Value.

On Saturday last came on the Election of Sheriffs for this City and County of Middlesex for the Year ensuing, when Robert Alsop, Esq; and Henry Hankey, Esq; Aldermen and Haberdashers, were chosen by so great a Majority, that no Poll was demanded.

Mr. William Rous, Deputy of Vintry Ward, and Mr. John Lequesne, Deputy of Bread-street Ward, were chose Auditors of the City and Bridge-house Accounts, in the Room of Mr. Sisson and Mr. Pitt, who went out in course, having served two Years.

Mr Dowse Edes was chosen Aleconner, in the Room of Mr. Bishop, deceased.

All the fine Pictures and rich Furniture of the late Count de Bothmar is taken out of his House adjoining to the Treasury, in St. James's Park, in order to be sent beyond Sea; and this Week the Furniture of the Right Hon Sir Robert Walpole will be carried in, his Majesty having made him a Present of that House.

Tuesday a Court of Lord Mayor and Aldermen was held at Guildhall, when the City Officers for the ensuing Year that were re chosen on Midsummer-day last, were sworn; and the Court on Account of the Chamberlain's Illness, adjourn'd to his House, where he took the Oaths appointed to be taken on that Occasion.

To CALEB D'ANVERS, Esq

SIR,

You are desired to insert the following Verses in your next Paper, and you'll oblige your unknown Friend and humble Servant, T. W.

To a Lady, who ask'd, what is Love?

'TIS somewhat, that exists within,
By Pedants construed into Sin;
A subtle Particle of Fire,
Which Heaven did with our Souls inspire;
Of such a mix'd and doubtful Kind,
It pleases, whilst it racks the Mind;
In Lightning through our Eyes it breaks;
In Blushes glows upon our Cheeks;
Pants in the Breast, dilates the Heart;
And spreads its Power through every Part;
We feel it throb at every Kiss,
Yet know not why, nor what it is.

Yesterday the four new Knights of the Bath were install'd at Westminster Abbey with great Solemnity; after which a grand Entertainment was prepared for them in the Court of Requests.

Extract of a Letter from Alicant, June 18, N. S.

'On the 14th the Transports were paid, and at the 'same Time assured that a sufficient Fund was embarked 'for continuing their Payments as they became due; 'and thus all Cause of Complaint on that Head being 'removed, and every Thing being embarked, the Fleet 'was ordered to get in Readiness for sailing. On the '15th the Wind being fair, upon a Signal given, they 'all got under sail for Cape Falcon, a little in the West-'ward of Oran, where the Troops, &c. are to be landed. 'The whole Fleet consisted of above 500 Sail of Ships 'and Vessels of all Nations, besides ten Spanish Men of 'War, one of 80 Guns, one of 70, seven from 60 to '64, and one of 50, a Frigate of 20, and another of 16 'Guns, two Bomb Ketches, and seven Gallies. The 'Land Forces consist of 32 complete Batallions of Foot, '12 Squadrons of Horse, and 12 of Dragoons, being in 'all full 26,000 effective Men, besides Servants, &c. and 'a fine Train of Artillery.

Wednesday being the last Day of Term, several Printers, Publishers, and others, bound over on Account of Pamphlets, &c. appeared on their Recognizances, some of whom were discharged, and others continued.

The Attorney-General acquainted the Court, that he had an Information against the Printer and two of the Publishers of Fog's Journal, for the Letter on K. William.

A few Days ago Mr. Cholmondeley, Publisher in Holbourn, was taken into Custody, for publishing the Picture of the late Lord Bishop of Rochester, Dr. Atterbury; and on Saturday was carry'd to the Cockpit and examin'd by the Secretary of State, and then discharg'd

On Saturday last a Purse of 20l. was run for by Hunters on Hunslow Heath: There were six started, viz. Mr. Cowper's Sorrel Mare, Quid Nunc; Mr. Gumley's Bay Gelding, Cherry Pole; Mr. Clarke's Horse, Speed; Mr Day's Roan Horse, Lily; Mr. Wood's Grey Mare, Frolick; and Mr. Selby of Epsom's Foxhunter, who enter'd at the Post, and had the Odds of the Field: The first Heat was won by Mr. Gumley's Cherry Pole, and Mr. Selby's Foxhunter the second and third Heats, and the Purse: In the second Heat one of the Scaffolds fell, a young Woman had her Leg broke, and several others were very much bruised by the Fall.

Letters from Manchester say, that Lady Egerton, Relict of Sir Holland Egerton of Heaton in Lancashire, Bart. was lately married there to John Brooke, Esq; youngest Son of Sir Thomas Brooke, Bart.

On Monday Night last a Cause was heard before the Lord Raymond at Westminster, wherein his Grace the Duke of Richmond was Plaintiff, and a Grazier of the County of Sussex, Defendant: The Action was brought upon the Statute of Scandalum Magnatum, for scandalous and defamatory Words spoken by the Defendant, which being fully proved, the Jury gave a Verdict for his Grace with very considerable Damages.

Tuesday a Board was held at the Admiralty-Office, when their Lordships granted several Protections, and likewise order'd a great many disabled Seamen to serve on board the Guard-ships as Centinels, and admitted others in the Pension of Greenwich Hospital.

We hear from Portsmouth, that all the Guardships at that Port are out of the Dock, and are rigging with the utmost Expedition, the Shipwrights have work'd two Tides extra for some Time, in order for their Dispatch; three Men of War are already fallen down to Spithead, and are taking in their Guns.

Thursday came on the Election for a Governor, Sub-Governor, and Deputy-Governor of the Royal Exchange Assurance Company, when the following Gentlemen were chosen by way of Ballot, for three Years, viz. William Dunstar, Esq; Governor; John Phillips, Esq; Sub-Governor; and Richard Lockwood, Esq; Deputy-Governor.

The same Day a Sessions of Admiralty was held at the Old Bailey, before Sir Henry Penrice, Judge of that high Court, for the Trial of divers Offences committed on the high Seas; when John Tatum, Andrew Dove, Thomas Perkins, Elias Parry, and Thomas Hill, were indicted for Piracy committed near Portugal, in the Month of April last, on board the Ship the Duke of Cambridge, of and from London, for endeavouring to seize and carry away the said Ship, and confining Capt. Wilson their Commander for half an Hour; and after a long Trial they were all acquitted, and order'd Copies of their Indictments.

Edinburgh, June 22. This Day Foulden [illegible] bacconist received Judgment for his being guilty of ing down and discovering the Nakedness of Ag naldson, with Intention to have ravished her. stand on the Pillory at Jetburgh, with a Paper Brow expressing his Crime, thereafter to be through that Town, and banished out of the ever.

Dead. Thomas Walbancke, Esq; Collector of for Lancaster Collection.—Edwin Rawstorn, Esq; Brother to William Rawstorn, Esq;—Last Week Epsom in Surrey, Mr. Sidwell, an eminent Spani chant of this City.

Thursday South Sea Stock was 98. South nuity 109 1 qr. Bank 148. India 169 ½ half 71. 8s. 6d. 20l. Prizes 19l. 15s. 6d.

HEMMING's Ware-house,
At the Turk's-Head in Tavestock-street, Cove den. Gause Manteels made after the French Pattern.
LIKEWISE new-fashion Straw Hats for Ladies, sold wh retail at reasonable Rates.

SPEAKING FANS,
So much admired by the Ladies, now all the are sold by the Maker, R. Hylton, at the Golden Fa George-street, Hanover-Square, and by Mr. Chaffereau a and Plume of Feathers in St. Andrew's-street, Seven Dials
N. B. These Fans are far preferable to any yet made.

This Day is Published,
Six PRINTS of the Progress of a Harl Fan, three on each Side, curiously engraved. Wherein th ters are justly preserv'd, and the whole not varied from the Printed in divers beautiful Colours, Price 2s 6d. Sold by ble at the Golden Fleece in St. Martin's Court, and C. Kin Golden Head in Brownlow-street, Drury-Lane.

LOST or MISLAID
A Note of Hand from WILLIAM FARNW dated May 13, 1732, for forty Pounds, payable to Rober or Order at four Months after Date. Whoever will bring Note to Mr. Michell and Fain in Friday-street, shall ha a Guinea Reward and no Questions asked.
N. B. Payment being stop'd, it is of no Service to any Owner.

This Day is Published,
(Dedicated to and approv'd of by Mr. JOHN SHIPTON, S In a neat Pocket Volume, Price 2s.
Printed for CHARLES CORBET, at Addison's He RICHARD CHANDLER, at the Flower-de-luce Temple-Bar
PROSODIA CHIRURGICA;
MEMORIA TECHNICA, calculated for the Use of old Practi as well as young Students in Surgery. Being a Lexicon; wh the Terms of Art are accounted for, their most received Sens and an exact Definition of them from the best Greek Au hors their Pronunciation, as to Quantity, determined by propo over each Syllable.

This Day is Published,
With his Effigies and a Map, the FOURTH EDI revis'd and corrected, of
The HISTORY of CHARLES XII. K SWEDEN. By Mr. DE VOLTAIRE.
Printed for C. Davis in Pater-noster-Row, and A Lyo vent-Garden. Where may be had, just published,
HISTORICAL and CRITICAL REMARKS on the of CHARLES XII. design'd as a Supplement to that Wo Mr. DE LA MOTRAYE. Price 1s 6d.

This Day is Published [Price One Shilling]
ORATIO de Novo Physiologæ Explican nere, ex Celeberrimi WOODWARDI Testamento instituto. Cantabrigiæ in Scholis Publicis a CONYERS MIDDLETON, Academiæ Cantabrigiensis Bibliothecario & Lectore Woodwardiano. Impensis Gul. Thurlbourn, Bibliopol Cantabrigiensium Prostant apud J. and J. Knapton, R. Knaplock, Innes, Bibliopolos Londinenses, 1732.

This Day was published,
(Beautifully printed in One Volume Octavo)
A Treatise of Continual FEVERS in four To which are added, MEDICINAL OBSERVATIONS, in three wherein are enumerated, the Diagnostick, Prognostick & C of the several Diseases incident to human Bodies. By Jo LOMMIUS. Translated from the Latin by THOMAS DALE, Printed for J. Brotherton, W. Meadows, T. Cox, W. Ha and R. Willock in Cornhill; J. Hazard near Stationers-Hall Eickerton without Temple-Bar; T. Astley and S. Austen Paul's Church-yard, and L. Gilliver in Fleet-street.

This Day is Published, [Price One Shilling]
Full INSTRUCTIONS for Country Gentlemen, mers, Graziers, Farriers, Carriers, Sportsmen, &c. Being a va rious Collection of well-experienced Observations and upwards o hundred Receipts for the Cure of most common Distempers inc to HORSES, OXEN, COWS, CALVES, SHEEP, LA HOGS and DOGS, digested under their proper Heads; m which have been practised for many Years with great Success the rest taken from the latest and most approv'd Authors; viz Capt. Burdon, Mr Solleysell, Mr. Gibson, Mr. Mascall, Mr herbert, and Others. By a Society of Country Gentlemen, Fa Graziers, Sportsmen, &c.
Printed and sold by E. Owen in Amen-Corner, and T. Ast the Rose over-against the North Door of St. Paul's.
Where may be had, newly published,
I. The Gentleman's Pocket Farrier. By Capt. WILLIAM DON. Price bound, gilt and letter'd, 5s.
II. The Trade and Navigation of Great Britain consider'd the third Edition with Additions. By the late Mr. JOSHUA Price 3s. 6d.
III. Poems on divine Subjects, original and translated fro Latin of M. Hieron. Vida, Bishop of Alba. By T. Morell, F of King's College, Cambridge. Price bound 5s.

Just Published
PROPOSALS for Printing by Subscription, in Volumes Octavo.
(Together with an ample Specimen of the Performance)
The Belief and Practice of CHRISTIANITY. der to a holy Life and a happy Death. This Work is founde on the Doctrines and Duties recorded in Scripture, and is inte in great Measure, as an Antidote against the corrupt Tenets present Times. (With large Notes)
By GEORGE LUMLEY, S. T. S. of Merton-College, Ox
Μυθοις δε της Νεοτητος καταφρονητα.
Subscriptions are taken in for the Author by James Astley London Coffee-house on Ludgate-hill; Edward Broughton, seller in Oxford; William Thurlbourne, Bookseller in Cambri Martin Bryson, Bookseller in Newcastle upon Tyne; Will. Bookseller in the Old Bailey, London; and by the Author, and Friends as he shall intrust with Proposals sign'd by himself.
N. B. Those who subscribe for Six, shall have a Seventh Gi